

Living Well

September / October 2025

Welcome to our September–October edition!

This newsletter brings together stories, updates and activities that showcase the strength of our community and the support we share.

- Meet Nadine, highlighting the warmth and vibrancy of our Living Well community.
- Discover upcoming activities designed to keep us connected, active and engaged – indoors or out in nature.
- Learn more about the services available through CRCS, and how we can support you or someone you know.
- Stay informed as we continue preparing for the new Aged Care Act, starting 1 November 2025.

Thank you for being part of the Living Well journey. We'd also love to hear from you – Your ideas, stories and feedback help us make future editions more meaningful for our community. Please email contact@cracs.com.au with your suggestions.

Warm regards

The Living Well Team

Aged Care Update

Meet Nadine – our Living Well Coordinator of Customer Service

If you've called or connected with Living Well, chances are you've already spoken to Nadine, our Coordinator of Customer Service. She's been part of the Living Well team for the past two years and describes Living Well as a truly collaborative program.

In her role, Nadine makes a real difference by ensuring every participant is treated as an individual. She takes the time to understand people's unique needs and goals, and works alongside them to help them stay independent and safe at home. Whether it's connecting someone with services, offering clear guidance, or simply being a steady support, her focus is always on empowering people to live well in their own way.

One of the most rewarding parts of her work is seeing people successfully navigate the My Aged Care system.

"It can feel overwhelming and confusing at first, but being able to guide someone step-by-step and then seeing how it improves their quality of life is incredibly motivating," she says.

Outside of work, Nadine loves to recharge by getting out into nature. Hiking through the bushland around Canberra helps her clear her mind, reset, and return refreshed. She's also a keen reader and is currently making her way through Sarah J. Maas's fantasy novels – the perfect way to unwind after a busy week.

When asked what she loves about being part of CRCS, Nadine doesn't hesitate:

"Because we're a local organisation, we really understand the needs of our community and can respond in meaningful, practical ways. It's incredibly rewarding to know the work we do strengthens the wellbeing and connectedness of Canberra."

Aged Care Update

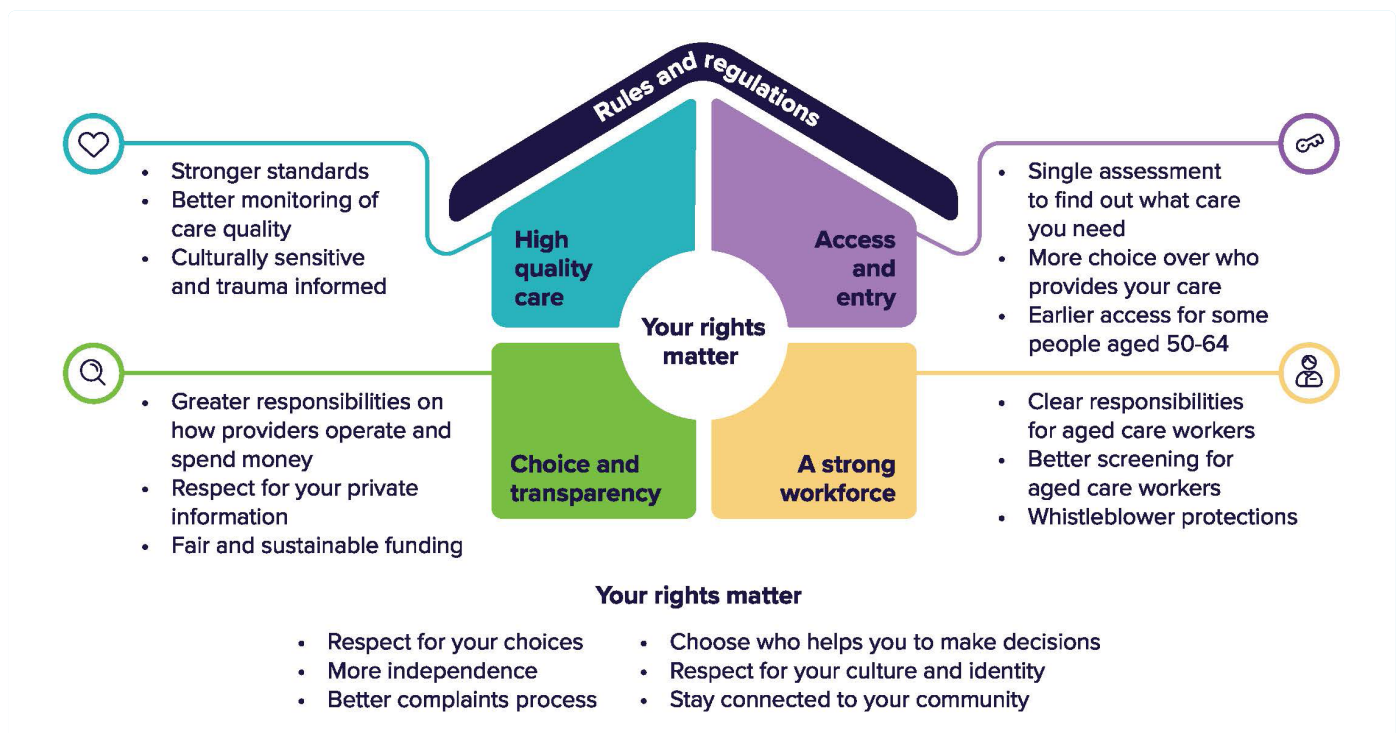

Aged Care Statement of Rights

Fair Care for Everyone

Your Aged Care journey starts with an assessment by the Government's My Aged Care team to find out what aged care services best suit your needs. You have the right to a fair and accurate assessment that respects your personal circumstances including your culture, language and background, personal experience and any trauma, and conditions such as dementia.

Everyone deserves fair care. At CRCS, we strive to provide care and services that respect your culture, background, and personal circumstances. We're here to make sure your care is right for you and to support you through any changes. If you don't think your current level of care is right for you, you can call My Aged Care for information and a respectful reassessment. The Community Care team can also refer you to My Aged Care to discuss any changes in your care needs – we just need your consent first!

This right is protected under Section 23, Clause (2) of the new Aged Care Act 2024.

We'll include updates in each newsletter, so if you have questions, email us at contact@cracs.com.au.

You can also subscribe to updates from the Department of Health here:

Maureen's Square: Life on the Orchard with Gertie the Goose

Highlighting another story from the Involve Quilt Project

When I was a teenager my father bought an acre of orchard in Kent, England. He bought chickens, rabbits and ducks. He was given a goose that we called Gertie. We also brought a lamb up on a bottle and called him Larry.

My mum used to make jams and pickles. Bottles of fruit and made wine. She was a fantastic cook and made lovely meals and cakes.

My brother used to put the ducks and goose to bed at night. Gertie turned out to be a gander and became quite vicious. One night we spotted my eldest brother up an apple tree, waving, so we waved back. Then suddenly we realized that Gertie was holding his leg and shaking it. We all ran down the garden and chased Gertie so that my brother could get down. Gertie lived to a very old age.

About Moments in Time

This year our Involve group is creating something special – a storytelling quilt made up of reflections, memories and experiences.

We're calling it Moments in Time because each quilt square captures a memory or moment, or even a series of moments, that the maker feels deeply connected to and wants to share. Each square holds a story and stitched together, the quilt reflects the lives and voices of our community.

We aim to display it at Belconnen Community Centre later this year. If you are interested in joining this project, email us at involve@crs.com.au.

Senior Songwriting - Expressions of Interest

Please register your interest at BCC Reception. Dates will be posted if there is enough interest to run this program.

Silver Tongues and Golden Lines, delivered by Songwriting for Non-Songwriters, is a 10-week creative program designed to bring connection, joy, and self-expression to older adults through the art of songwriting. Using accessible, engaging activities, participants explore the elements of great songs and learn how to craft lyrics inspired by their own stories, values, and memories. No prior music experience is needed—just a willingness to share, reflect, and create in a supportive group environment. Research shows that songwriting in later life can improve mood, enhance memory, boost self-esteem, and reduce feelings of isolation, while fostering a renewed sense of identity and purpose.

Each session features live performances of classic songs participants can sing along to, used as engaging examples to illustrate the songwriting techniques covered that week. These performances spark conversation, laughter, and shared nostalgia, while inspiring participants to apply similar creative strategies to their own work. The result is a program that combines the joy of live music, the power of storytelling, and the benefits of creative expression, leaving participants not just with songs they've created themselves, but with richer connections to their peers and their own life experiences, and a new skill and creative outlet for life.

New Groups and Activities

Friday Flicks Movie Group:
